

Abstract:

The present invention provides conjugates, processes for their preparation, and the use of these conjugates for transporting low-molecular-weight compounds and macromolecules across biological membranes, in particular for transporting molecules into cells. The present invention also provides pharmaceutical compositions, diagnostic aids, and test kits in which these conjugates are present or used.

095232960